Adem Hatipoglu

I am an Economics and Finance graduate from Bahcesehir University in Istanbul with a passion for data science and research. As a P/T Research Assistant at BlockchainIST Center, Turkey's first university research and development center for Blockchain Technology, I have experience in blockchain technology, on-chain data, metric creation and cryptocurrencies. I am proficient in Python, R, Microsoft Office, Bloomberg Terminal, and SQL. With a strong academic record from Vefa High School, which is known for its rich history and success, I have a broad perspective on economics and finance. My interests include statistics and stock markets, and I am committed to continuous learning and growth in these areas.
